Examples

Use the BI communicative framework to identify the strategic steps in the following examples:

Move 1: Contextualizing broader impacts

1. […] is primarily captured as a by-product of the processing of […] deposits found in the western […]. (GP77)
2. With the potential retirement of nearly 50% of the […] workforce in the next 10 years [48], such plans for broadening participation in […] is critical for our national and economic security. (GP83)
3. Increasing […] prices to this extent will cause immeasurable harm to the nation's economic vitality. (GP31)

Move 2: Demonstrating tangible broader impacts

1. Through active recruiting of minority and women graduate students from REU sites, partner institutions, and […] and […] programs at ISU, the […] program will involve a diverse set of participants. (GP61)
2. ISU's […] Department has an excellent foundation on security research via the well-recognized […]-designated […] Center. (GP4)
3. The research team is well positioned to transfer the knowledge and practical insights to […] management agencies with whom they actively interact through several large-scale activities carried on in […]. (GP79)
4. On the website, we will collect information on […] and deliver follow-on questionnaires to those using the materials to obtain more details of the program impact. (GP78)

Move 3: Claiming importance

1. The research on […] provides a prime example of the significant impact that the sequencing of the […] and associated […] resources has made on the science of […] and on use of […] as a model organism. (GP36)
2. The long term benefit of the proposed study is to provide an economical solution to […] nationwide in addressing their future […] issues. (GP57)
3. Ultimately, technological innovations of this sort will be required for our nation to achieve independence from foreign […] reserves. (GP40)